

Addressing Rumors and Accusations.

Upon my return from my hiatus from media appearance and sudden departure from the Nexion 435 and retirement of GoreWaffen it has brought upon many rumors and speculation

I plan on making this short and to the point regarding all the criticisms and allegations-

1. Nexion 435 fedded accusation

Amongst not only the LHP, but as well the occult scene there has always been the fed and honeypot accusation. Of course sitting here and going at this topic is utterly pointless and will only result in making myself seem more "federal" and to be honest I could give a fuck less.

Furthermore, The Noctulian Blood Covenant was never fedded; this rumor began after I ultimately made the decision to disappear and say I got arrested by burning down a church. Which we ultimately didn't think anyone would believe, it was merely a joke and short cover for my sudden departure from the covenant.

2. SinisterWyrld & GoreWaffen

Yes, I am SinisterWyrld... shocker Though many believe I tried to hide the fact that I was-

This was never true, as soon as I returned from my hiatus I hinted at that fact that I was by using former post that was associated with the Alias.

And yes as well I was the founder of GoreWaffen, it began as a singular project a few years back and I ultimately decided to revive it upon my initiation into the NBC435.

It began as an ONA archive seller to a reproduction work, ultimately we were the big inspiration to many other LuLu publishers and as well sparked the republishing of Sinister works.

Ultimately GoreWaffen met its goal in my eyes, despite the criticism not only from others but even myself, GoreWaffen was a learning point for me and I will forever look at it with cherishing memories.

3. Stealing work accusation

This rumor was ultimately just a defacing of character from SF members to ultimately delegitimize my works within NBC435, I'm not going to name the individual behind it because he is merely not worth the exposure-

Though this member is someone who I've spoken through via phone call for about a couple hours regarding his accusations towards me.

Ultimately he interpreted that the Leader of 435 stole his work which I was not aware of, I came into 435 with little knowledge of bathory based covenants and its former works and endeavors.

Though I can not speak on the matter regarding if the work was taken or not simply based on the lack of knowledge regarding the subject. That is ultimately between him and the leader and not my business.

Though he ultimately decided upon me denying his request for partnership several times then sought out to quote on quote in his own words

"ruin my reputation".

Ultimately switching the narrative and accusing me of stealing his work, none of this is true and is merely lies built on his insecurities and salty behavior regarding rejection.

4. SF association

I ultimately have no association with SF, I have always been in suite with the ONA and it's interpretation of Satanism-

Though I do not have any ill will towards Satanic Front, in my eyes it is simply agreeing to disagree and is ultimately not worth the arguments.

The beginning of this accusation was from my posting of almost an anti-o9a agenda and posting of SF literature, I merely call out both sides on its BS and it's as simple as that.

Both SF and the ONA have problems in my eyes, and it is as simple as that-

-

Blood Priest Skorge & SinisterWyrd